

Bassam Alhawas

King Faisal University – Faculty of Veterinary Medicine – Al-Ahsaa

Cell Phone: +966501177181

E-mail: baalhawas@kfu.edu.sa

Objective

My main passion is to improve my competencies within the area of Animal Behavior and Welfare through studying abroad. That is why I am eager to be enrolled in a matching master program in a reputable university. In fact, being qualified and optimistic will be reflected positively on my career.

Education

Qassim University, Al-Qassim, Saudi Arabia

- Bachelor's degree in Veterinary Medicine(BVM) 20/1/2014.
- Participate in Saudi project for utilization of Hajj meat in Mecca, KSA to inspect slaughtered animals and providing animals that meet all Shariah and health requirements. Course work included the study of infectious diseases, pathology and preventive medicine
- GPA: 4.7/5

New England School of English (NESE) (Boston, USA)

- ESL Diploma, completed Level 10 1/28/2017.
- Participated in Open Talk Club and History Club.
- Completed business course while studying at NESE.
- GPA: 3.49/4

Relevant Experience

28-9-2017 and on

- Teaching Assistant of Animal and Poultry Management and Animal Behaviour in the college of Veterinary Medicine – King Faisal University.
- Shared in training students during the practical part of Animal and Poultry Management and Animal Behavior courses.
- Involved in many scientific activities and events (workshops, scientific presentation, department scientific discussions and presentation, local conferences).

07/04/2014 - 07/26/2015

Quality Control Supervisor | Alwatania Poultry Company | Authal, Al-Qassim, Saudi Arabia and my role there was:

- Shared in performing laboratory analyses and tests for diagnosis of various poultry diseases.
- Led lab work activities, planning and organizing work.
- Shared in Preparing reports, presentations, and summarizing work activities.
- Shared in performing various analyses as needed to highlight issues and resolve questions.
- Shared in adjusting the environment in the chicken processing plant.
- Making the normal health inspection of the chickens in the processing plant.

06/08/2013 - 07/13/2013

Veterinary Trainee | Almarai Food Company | Hail, Hail, Saudi Arabia

My role there was:

- Make an accurate diagnosis of different poultry diseases.
- Help in health education and spreading awareness of co-workers about the correct treatment of different diseases in poultry farms.
- Insured that the workers were following biosecurity measures.
- Monitored the state of health of the Almarai's poultry supply.

Various

Volunteer at local farms in the Al-Qassim region

- Shared in diagnosis and treatments of many cases of animal diseases.
- Spread information about the danger, methods of treatment and control of various infectious diseases.
- Assisted in many cases of dystocia (obstructed labor) of different farm animals.

Awards and Acknowledgments

- Dean's List for four semesters.
- Special recognition from Qassim University for participation in Saudi project for utilization of Hajj meat in Mecca.
- Government scholarship holder for exceptional grades.

Training programs, Workshops

13&14/03/2018

- Training program titled: “Scientific Publishing Skills with Special Reference to Hijacked Journals” organized by King Faisal University.

01-26/04/ 2018

- Training program titled: “Advance MS Office 2013” organized by King Faisal University.

14-18/10/2018

- Training program titled: “Recent Advances in Equine Medicine and Reproduction” organized by King Faisal University.

21-22/10/2018

- Training program titled: “SPSS as a Tool to Analyze Quantitative Research” organized by King Faisal University.

Memberships

- Member, Saudi Veterinary Medical Society.