Faculty Handbook

Second Edition

Prepared by
Deanship of Faculty Affairs
King Faisal University attracts elite faculty members from different Colleges, some of them return after their educational trip abroad for their Ph.D., others join the university from various parts of the Kingdom to add their outstanding efforts to its distinctive sons, and there are those who come from friendly countries to contribute by their efforts to distinguish the mission and the performance of the university.

All of these have questions about the university and the region and ways of safe and reassuring life for them and their families.

For all those, the Deanship open its arms and welcomes them with all love,
The Land of the Two Holy Mosques
Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, KSA

The Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, KSA (Arabic: المملكة العربية السعودية, al-Mamlaka al-ʻArabiyya as-Suʿūdiyya), is an Arab country and the largest country of the Arabian Peninsula. It is bordered by Jordan on the northwest, Iraq on the north and northeast, Kuwait, Qatar, Bahrain, and the United Arab Emirates on the east, Oman on the southeast, and Yemen on the south. The Arabian Gulf lies to the northeast and the Red Sea to its west. It has an estimated population of 27.6 million, and its size is approximately 2,150,000 square kilometers (830,000 sq mi).

The Kingdom is also called “The Land of the Two Holy Mosques” in reference to Makkah and Medinah, the two holiest places in Islam. Saudi Arabia is the world’s leading petroleum exporter. Petroleum exports fuel the Saudi economy.
Geography

The Kingdom occupies about 80 percent of the Arabian peninsula. In 2000 Saudi Arabia and Yemen signed an agreement to settle their long-running border dispute.[7] A significant length of the country’s southern borders with the United Arab Emirates, and Oman, are not precisely defined or marked, so the exact size of the country remains unknown. The Saudi government’s estimate is 2,217,949 km² (856,356 sq mi). Other reputable estimates vary between 1,960,582 km²[8] (756,934 mi) and 2,240,000 km² (864,869 mi²). The kingdom is commonly listed as the world’s 14th largest state.

Saudi Arabia’s geography is varied. From the western coastal region (Tihamah), the land rises from sea level to a peninsula-long mountain range (Jabal al-Hejaz) beyond which lies the plateau of Nejd in the center. The southwestern ‘Asir region has mountains as high as 3,000 m (9,840 ft) and is known for having the greenest and freshest climate in all of the country, one that attracts many Saudis to resorts such as Abha in the summer months. The east is primarily rocky or sandy lowland continuing to the shores of the Arabian Gulf. The geographically hostile Rub’ al Khali (“Empty Quarter”) desert along the country’s imprecisely defined southern borders contains almost no life.

The reddish color of sand and rocky hills in the background indicate this image was taken in the middle/western part of the kingdom.

Mostly uninhabited, much of the nation’s landmass consists of desert and semi-arid regions, with a dwindling traditional Bedouin population. In these parts of the country, vegetation is limited to weeds, xerophytes herbs and shrubs. Less than two percent of the kingdom’s total area is arable land. Population centers are mainly located along the eastern and western coasts and densely populated interior oases such as Hofuf and Buraydah. In some extended areas, primarily the Rub’ al-Khali and the Arabian Desert, there is no population whatsoever, although the petroleum industry is constructing a few planned communities there. Saudi Arabia has no permanent year-round rivers or lakes; however, its coastline extends for 2,640 km (1,640 mi) and, along the Red Sea, harbors world-class coral reefs, including the Gulf of Aqaba.

Native animals include the ibex, wildcats, baboons, wolves, and hyenas in the mountainous highlands. Small birds are found in the oases. The coastal area on the Red Sea with its coral reefs has a rich marine life.
Climate

Extreme heat and aridity are characteristic of most of Saudi Arabia. It is one of the few places in the world where summer temperatures above 50 °C (122 °F) have been recorded,[citation needed] 51.7 °C (124 °F) being the highest ever recorded temperature. In winter, frost or snow can occur in the interior and the higher mountains, although this only occurs once or twice in a decade. The lowest recorded temperature is −12.0 °C (10.4 °F), recorded at Turaif. The average winter temperature ranges from 8° to 20 °C (47° to 68 °F) in January in interior cities such as Riyadh and 19° to 29 °C (66° to 83 °F) in Jeddah, on the Red Sea coast. The average summer temperature range (in July) is 27° to 43 °C (81° to 109 °F) in Riyadh and 27° to 38 °C (80° to 100 °F) in Jeddah. Nighttime temperatures in the central deserts can be famously chilly even in summer, as the sand gives up daytime heat rapidly once the sun has set. Annual precipitation is usually sparse (up to 100 mm or 4 in in most regions), although sudden downpours can lead to violent flash floods in wadis. Annual rainfall in Riyadh averages 100 mm (4 inches) and falls almost exclusively between January and May; the average in Jeddah is 54 mm (2.1 in) and occurs between November and January.
Government

The central institution of the Saudi Arabian government is the Saudi monarchy. The Basic Law of Government adopted in 1992 declared that Saudi Arabia is a monarchy ruled by the sons and grandsons of the first king, Abd Al Aziz Al Saud. It also claims that the Qur’an is the constitution of the country, which is governed on the basis of the Sharia (Islamic Law).

Development

Saudi Arabia is one of the few fastest growing countries in the world with a high per capita income of $20,700 (2007), Saudi Arabia will be launching six economic cities (King Abdullah Economic City) which will be completed by the year 2020. These six new industrialized cities will diversify the economy of Saudi Arabia, and will also increase the per capita income to a high level. The King of Saudi Arabia has announced that the per capita income is forecast, to rise from $15,000 in 2006 to $33,500 in 2020. The cities will be spread around Saudi Arabia to promote diversification for each region and their economy, and the cities will contribute $150 billion to the GDP.

Culture

Saudi Arabian culture mainly revolves around the religion of Islam. Islam’s two holiest sites, Mecca and Medina, are located in the country. Five times every day, Muslims are called to prayer from the minarets of mosques which are scattered around the country. The weekend begins on Thursday due to Friday being the holiest day for Muslims. All Muslim countries have a Thursday-Friday or Friday-Saturday weekend. Saudi Arabia’s cultural heritage is celebrated at the annual Jenadriyah cultural festival. Music and dance One of Saudi Arabia’s most compelling folk rituals is the Al-Ardha, the country’s national dance. This sword dance is based on ancient Bedouin traditions: drummers beat out a rhythm and a poet chants verses while sword-carrying men dance shoulder to shoulder. Al-sihba folk music, from the Hejaz, has its origins in al-Andalus. In Mecca, Medina and Jeddah, dance and song incorporate the sound of the mizmar, an oboe-like woodwind instrument in the performance of the mizmar dance. The drum is also an important instrument according to traditional and tribal customs. Samri is a popular traditional form of music and dance in which poetry is sung.
Over 25% of the annual State budget is for education including vocational training. The Kingdom has also worked on scholarship programs to send students overseas to the United States, Canada, France, United Kingdom, Australia, Malaysia and other nations. Currently thousands of students are being sent to higher-educations programs every year.

Foreign labor
Despite the government’s efforts to promote Saudization, the country draws a significant portion of its labor force from foreign countries, especially from South and Southeast Asia, East Asia, East Africa and from other Middle Eastern countries. There are also some people from North America, South America, and Europe.

Demographic
Saudi Arabia’s population as of July 2006 is estimated to be about 27,019,731, including an estimated 5,576,076 resident foreigners. The birth rate is 29.56 births per 1,000 people. The death rate is 2.62 deaths per 1,000 people. Some cities and oases have densities of more than 1,000 people per square kilometer (2,600/sq mi).
Education

When the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia was founded in 1932, education was not accessible to everyone and limited to individualized instruction at religious schools in mosques in urban areas. These schools taught Islamic law and basic literacy skills. By the end of the century, Saudi Arabia had a nationwide educational system providing free training from preschool through university to all citizens.

The primary education system began in Saudi Arabia in the 1930s. By 1945, King Abdulaziz bin Abdelrahman Al-Saud, the country’s founder, had initiated an extensive program to establish schools in the Kingdom. Six years later, in 1951, the country had 226 schools with 29,887 students. In 1954, the Ministry of Education was established, headed by then Prince Fahd bin Abdulaziz as the first Minister of Education. The first university, now known as King Saud University, was founded in Riyadh in 1957.

Today, Saudi Arabia’s nationwide public educational system comprises twenty universities, more than 24,000 schools, and a large number of colleges and other educational and training institutions. The system provides students with free education, books and health services and is open to every Saudi.
Dress
Traditionally, men usually wear an ankle-length shirt woven from wool or cotton (known as a thawb), with a ghutra (a large checkered square of cotton held in place by a cord coil). For rare chilly days, Saudi men wear a camel-hair cloak (bisht) over the top. Women’s clothes are decorated with tribal motifs, coins, sequins, metallic thread, and appliques. Women are required to wear an abaya or modest clothing when in public.

Food
Islamic dietary laws forbid the eating of pork and the drinking of alcohol, and this law is enforced strictly throughout Saudi Arabia. Arabic unleavened bread, or khobz, is eaten with almost all meals. Other staples include lamb, grilled chicken, falafel (deep-fried chickpea balls), shawarma (spit-cooked sliced lamb), and Ful medames (a paste of fava beans, garlic and lemon). Traditional coffeehouses used to be ubiquitous, but are now being displaced by food-hall style cafes. Arabic tea is also a famous custom, which is used in both casual and formal meetings between friends, family and even strangers. The tea is black (without milk) and has herbal flavoring that comes in many variations.
About The University
History of the University
King Faisal University which is located in the Eastern Province of Saudi Arabia, with two campuses in Dammam and Al-Hassa, offers a range of programs, including medicine, administrative science, architecture and urban planning. Founded in 1975, the university is famous for its outstanding medicine, agricultural and veterinary sciences programs. It has educational and experimental farms in Al-Hassa and conducts advanced research in agriculture and animal husbandry.

Location of the University
KFU’s main campus is in Al-Hassa while Dammam campus is the branch of KFU, Both cities lie in the south of the Kingdom’s Eastern region and are bounded by the Al-Dahna and the Al-Daman deserts.
The Al-Hassa Oasis is the largest oasis in the Kingdom of Saudi Arabia and the municipality of Al-Hassa constitutes the largest administrative area in the Kingdom. In ancient times, Al-Hassa was at the center of the trade routes which traders followed between the east of the Arabian Peninsula and India, Persia and the Far East.
the Dammam campus is also located in the Eastern Province of Saudi Arabia. Dammam is an important Saudi port on the Arabian Gulf. The largest town in the eastern region, it has expanded to the city limits of two other modern towns, Al-Khobar and Dhahran. Near Dammam are located the most important centers in the world for the production and refining of petroleum. The population of Dammam is greater than a million.

The university campus is about ten kilometers from the Arabian Gulf, seven kilometers from the city of Al-Khobar, twenty kilometers from Dammam. The University overlooks the Arabian Gulf, and the island of Bahrain - 35 kilometers from Saudi Arabia’s eastern coast and linked to it by the King Fahd Causeway. The highway distance to Riyadh is about 400 kilometers and to Jeddah about 1450 kilometers from Dammam. Both Al-Hassa and Dammam have a dry, tropical climate, with a five month summer and a relatively cold winter. It enjoys the benefit of copious reserves of underground water which have allowed the area to develop its agricultural potential. The climate during most of the academic year is quite pleasant, with temperatures ranging from briskly cool to comfortably warm. In winter light jackets are necessary. Nevertheless, Al-Hassa and Dammam has to deal with extreme heat from June to September but to counter this problem, the university has fully central air conditioned buildings.

Faculty Policies
Faculty Policies

General

All employees of the University are employees of the Saudi Arabian Government. Foreign faculty contracts are executed between the University and the individual in the role of a foreign "contractor", and all such employees are subject to the general laws of the Kingdom.
Faculty Ranks
The titles that are used to describe faculty members in the University are as follows. Generally, the faculty members are required to perform duties involving teaching, research and University / community services.

Professorial Ranks
All professorial rank faculty members hold a PhD degree or equivalent. The titles used to describe faculty members of the University are: Assistant Professor, Associate Professor, and Professor. Titles used to describe faculty members who apply or are invited to join the University on a temporary basis: are (I) Adjunct Professor, who works on a part-time basis or for a part of an academic year, and (ii) Visiting Professor, who by mutual agreement wishes to associate himself with the university on a full-time basis for a specified period.

Non-Professorial Ranks
The non-professorial ranks in the University are:
(I) Graduate Assistant / Research Assistant, who holds a B.S. degree,
(ii) Lecturer, who holds a Master Degree.
Faculty Appointment

The University has a comprehensive review procedure to maintain and build up its excellent faculty. Usually, an expatriate faculty member is appointed on a contractual basis. Contracting procedures are designed to obtain a pool of highly qualified applicants in order to maintain the excellence and high standards of the University.

When considering a contract for an expatriate faculty member, the following general procedures are practiced to evaluate the candidate’s file: (i) evaluating the applicant’s academic and professional experience thoroughly by the concerned academic department, college, or RI center councils, (ii) interviewing the applicant by university representative(s), (iii) recommending or rejecting the application, and (iv) sending an offer of employment or a decline letter. The final decision to offer the candidate a contract is made by the Rector of the University on the basis of councils’ recommendations and comments.

Contract Renewal

It is the intention of the University to encourage the faculty to maintain continuity of service. Therefore, the appointment and contract is, usually, renewed automatically on a one-year basis, depending on departmental evaluation and recommendations.
Otherwise, either party should notify the other in writing of the desire to terminate the contract two months before the expiration date of the contract. In the event of termination of contract, all accrued salary is paid on departure from the University.

Work Loads and Responsibilities

To maintain high quality of instruction, research and service, a faculty member is expected to spend up to 40 hours per week in executing University duties. However, he has the freedom to distribute these hours for the purpose of teaching, research development and creative work, office attendance, and committee services.

In addition, a professorial rank faculty member is expected to accept maximum instructional load during the regular semesters. The distribution of loads are (i) Ten class sessions per week per semester for a Professor, (ii) Twelve class sessions per week per semester for an Associate Professor, and (iii) Fourteen class sessions per week per semester for an Assistant Professor.

However, the work load may be reduced where a faculty member has other administrative responsibilities, special assignments, approved research, lab development, development of new course materials, and supervision of theses, senior projects, summer training and co-op students.
A non-professorial rank faculty member is expected to accept maximum teaching load of about eighteen class sessions per week during the regular semesters. However, the work load may be reduced where he has other special assignments or learning duties.

End of Employment
Both the faculty member and the University have the right to initiate the act of termination of employment. Forms of this action are: resignation, retirement, and contract termination. Procedures linked to each case are displayed in the following subsections.

Resignation
Resignation is an action by which a faculty member terminates his academic employment voluntarily. A faculty member must follow these procedures in order to resign from the University:

- The faculty member addresses a resignation letter to the head of his academic department or RI center.
- The head of the department or RI center forwards the letter to the college dean or a higher authority together with his recommendations and comments.
- The Rector officially declares the acceptance or temporary delay of the resignation.
Contract Termination
Upon recommendations of the department, college, and/or higher administration, a contracted faculty member is granted an automatic contract renewal one year. If either party requests otherwise, a contract termination may be effective at an agreed-upon date. Reasons for contract termination are acceptance of resignation, cancellation of the academic position, job disqualification, and unjustified absences, involvement in a crime or severe rule violation, disciplinary dismissal, permanent sickness, or death.
Faculty Responsibilities & Duties
Teaching and Related Activities

Teaching Activities
The University considers the faculty’s role in teaching and educational engagements as primary and essential. A faculty member, as a teacher, shall discharge his teaching responsibilities by presenting materials accurately and effectively in accordance with the approved course objectives and course outlines. He should make every effort to encourage students to learn and perform better, and in this respect, he shall adopt teaching methods. He should convey at the beginning of the semester the instructional objectives of each course and see that the objectives are fulfilled through course-related activities. Apart from the classroom teaching assignments, a teacher has the responsibility to develop a relationship with students in which he should act as an intellectual guide, counselor, advisor and mentor.

Assignment of Instructional Responsibilities
Normally, the department chairman assigns teaching load, academic advising, and other teaching related tasks to the faculty members, all of which vary from semester to semester depending on the departmental requirements and the policy of the department.
Teaching and Related Activities

Teaching Load
Teaching load for a full-time teaching instructor in a regular semester may vary from semester to semester depending upon the requirements of the department and the number of available staff. Primarily, teaching load includes teaching preparatory year, undergraduate and graduate courses. For faculty members holding professorial ranks, the maximum teaching load in a semester is 14 contact sessions p/w. Additional load, over and above the normal teaching load, would result from supervision of co-op reports, senior projects and summer work reports and coordination of multi-section courses if appointed as a course coordinator. The department may reduce the course load of a member who is assigned a special duty by the department, the College or by the University. Up to 40 hours p/w, faculty members are expected to be available for professional duties.

Curriculum Development
Each faculty member should have a continuing commitment to the development of subjects in his field. He should review and update the course contents, as and when necessary, to reflect new developments and advances.
Class Management

Course Scheduling
All on-campus credit courses are scheduled by the Registrar’s Office under the Deanship of Admissions & Registration. The request for a change in the scheduled class time can be made only if there is conflict and/or a strong justification. The request must be filed with the Registrar’s office through the chairman of the department, citing the reasons.

Hours of Instruction and Conduct of Classes
The duration of each lecture and laboratory session is indicated by the Registrar’s office. An instructor is responsible to the department offering the course and to the college dean for orderly and competent conduct of classes and all teaching activities. Faculty members are expected to start and finish their scheduled classes promptly on time.

Classroom Supplies
Each classroom is fitted with a white board, an overhead projector, a screen, writing chalks and dusters. Colored chalks, transparencies and other classroom supplies are available from the academic departments.
Teaching and Related Activities

A faculty member is also expected to develop new courses to include new advances and topical issues, which would strengthen the academic curricula. He should work in collaboration with other faculty members in his field to seek continuous updating and improvement of curricula.

Office Hours
Instructors are expected to schedule and keep a reasonable number of weekly office hours for student conferences and consultations. Office hours should be scheduled at times convenient to students. The minimum number of office hours is normally specified by the department. The academic departments require that the instructors post their scheduled office hours for the convenience of students and provide the department with a copy of their posted office hours.
Class Roster
It is the responsibility of the instructor to ensure that all names of students who are officially admitted to the course are duly registered in the official class roster supplied by the Deanship of Admissions & Registration. The official class list is also posted on-line on the website of the Deanship, access to which can be made by the instructor.

Record of Class Attendance
A regular student is expected to attend all classes and laboratory sessions. To discourage class absenteeism of students, the University enforces a policy on class attendance in which a regular student will not be allowed to continue in a course and take the final examination, if his unexcused absences exceed 20% of the lecture and laboratory sessions scheduled for the course or, if his attendance, allowing for both excused and unexcused absences, is less than 66.7% of the scheduled class and laboratory sessions. A course instructor should therefore keep a record of class and laboratory attendances of all students. A grade of DN in a course is given, if the student`s unexcused absences are more than 20% of the lecture and laboratory sessions scheduled for the course.
Class Management

Cancellation of Classes and Make-up Classes
An instructor may cancel a class due to sickness, emergency leave, official business trip or assignment or any other unforeseen, unavoidable events. In such cases, he must inform the department of the cancellation with justification and also notify the class. For all cancelled classes, make-up classes must be scheduled to complete the course coverage. It is the responsibility of the instructor to make arrangements for the extra class meetings at a suitable time free of conflict with student’s academic engagements. The department should be informed of the scheduling of all make-up classes.

Textbooks and Course Materials
Wherever necessary, a scheduled course has a designated textbook, which has been adopted by the department. As all students registered in a course will have a copy of this book, an instructor may freely refer to the textbook as and when necessary. The adoption of a textbook does not restrict the instructor to use this book exclusively in his teaching and therefore he may freely adopt other references to supplement teaching material, which may include his own prepared lecture notes.
Class Management

Where there is no designated textbook, an instructor must rely on his own collection of materials and whenever necessary and appropriate, he should distribute the course materials to the students in his class.

An instructor can propose a new textbook, either as a replacement for an existing one or as a new addition for a course where there is no designated textbook, by following the University`s procedure, which requires approval of the department, the college and the University.

Course Portfolio

The University maintains a policy on course portfolio, according to which an instructor is required to prepare a course file with necessary documentation and submit it to the department on completion of the course. The course file should contain materials in accordance with the department`s policy and may include syllabus, instructor`s report, and copies of homework, projects and examinations and samples of students` work.
Faculty Benefits
General

The main incentives offered to expatriate faculty members are spelled out clearly in the “Employment Contract for Non-Saudi Faculty”. In addition, eligibility to receive other incentives is governed by the regulations and procedures presented by the university.
Earned Benefits and Compensations

Earned benefits and compensations are the direct pay back that a faculty member gains against executing and completing different official assignments of the University.

Base Salaries and Merit Increments

Monthly base salaries of expatriate faculty members are defined on the basis of the established University pay scales in accordance with their academic qualifications and professional experience. The merit increments for expatriate faculty members are considered at their contract renewals. The percentage of increment applicable to the evaluation grade of their overall performance, as defined by the Faculty Affairs Committee, is calculated on their salaries drawn prior to the renewal of their contracts.

Summer Compensation

A faculty member is entitled to receive this type of compensation if requested to execute a summer assignment. Summer duties include summer session teaching and other related assignment. A faculty member who participates in a summer assignment, for which he is compensated, loses his right to be eligible for summer vacation. In general, the summer compensation does not exceed the amount of the individual’s two-month salary.
Short Course Compensation
The University encourages its faculty members to participate in offering a variety of short courses. The University compensates the faculty member for short course coordination, marketing, and teaching. The compensation amount is calculated on the basis of the faculty member’s academic rank (i.e. professorial or non-professorial) and number of hours spent in coordination and/or teaching.

Retirement and End of Service Benefits
An expatriate faculty member receives end of service benefit (termination benefit) equivalent to a half month of basic salary for each full year of service upon completion of two full years of service with the University. However, upon completion of five years of service consecutively, the faculty member is entitled to a termination or end of service benefit equivalent to one month of his basic salary for each year of service based on his basic salary at the time he leaves the University. The accumulated amount of termination benefit, not exceeding SR 100,000, is payable at final termination of the contract.

Transportation Allowance
A faculty member is entitled to receive a fixed monthly transportation allowance against local transportation expenses. This benefit is considered on the basis of his academic rank.
Indirect Benefits

Repatriation Benefits
At the start of contract, the University provides one-way air tickets to the expatriate faculty member and his eligible dependents (wife and two children) from their official point of origin to Dammam by the most direct routing through Saudi Arabian Airlines (SAUDIA). The maximum number of tickets must not exceed four, if needed, and each child’s age should not exceed 18 years.
In addition, the University provides similar round-trip air tickets to the expatriate faculty member and his eligible dependents from Dammam to his contract point of origin and back every year at the due time of his annual vacation.
One-way tickets are also supplied to the expatriate faculty member and his family for final repatriation upon final completion of his contract or termination of employment.

Health Care
The Medical Center provides free basic health and dental care to all faculty members and their families. Laboratory, x-ray, vaccination, pharmacy, emergency and treatment room services are available.
Indirect Benefits

In case of serious medical situation or accident, the University Medical Center usually issues referral letters to faculty members or any of their authorized dependents to be examined and treated in a neighborhood specialized Government hospital. Optional medical insurance plans are available at cost.

Holidays and Vacations

All faculty members in the University are eligible for the following vacations and holidays:

- Weekends, which are Thursdays and Fridays in Saudi Arabia.
- Official holidays, which are EidAl-Fitr and EidAl-Adha holidays. Government media, upon the instruction of the Council of Ministers, announce the official beginning and end of these two holidays.
- Annual vacation of a maximum of 60 days if a faculty member does not have any official summer assignment. The Dean of Faculty & Personnel Affairs, upon the Rector’s approval, announces the official start and end of the annual vacation.
