

BEHAVIORAL SCIENCES

The curriculum of Behavioral Sciences include the following topics: Introduction to Psychology, models of health and illness, stress in biopsychosocial model, psychoneuroimmunology, psychological functions that include: observation, perception, attention, memory, thinking, executive functions, intelligence, learning, feeling and emotions ,motivation, personality, psychophysiology of sleep and dreams, child psychology that include growth and development, neuroplasticity, development of motor abilities, development of speech and sensory and perceptual development